

Distance Learning Opportunities

at

Homestead National Monument of America

Visit this National Park Service site LIVE!

Your students will speak with real rangers and participate in curriculum-based activities.

Prescribed Burn

Heartland Storytelling Festival

Live Virtual Tours

Homestead National Monument of America

Pioneers in Distance Learning

The National Park Service is dedicated to promoting excellence in educational experiences at all NPS sites. A distance learning connection with Homestead NM of America will provide a quality enrichment activity.

- Activities will support State and National curriculum standards.
- 100 acres of tallgrass prairie represents a “living laboratory” for science activities.
- Nearly 50,000 museum artifacts available for study.
- Access to historic Freeman School, a one-room school built in 1872.
- Enrichment activities can be tailored to support your class’ learning outcomes.

For more information about educational opportunities at Homestead NM of America contact the park at: (402)223-3514 or visit the web at: www.nps.gov/home.

Freeman School

Tallgrass Prairie